Even in their weakness, God looked lovingly on Israel. When leaders failed, God promised them leaders who would carefully shepherd them. Jesus was such a shepherd. We hear today that he cared for his disciples when they were weary and welcomed the crowds who followed him with love. God's promises are truly fulfilled in Jesus, who continues to care for and shepherd us. The Lord indeed, is our shepherd.

16th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Behold, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will raise up a righteous shoot to David. - Jer.23:5a

CHRIST'S PRESENCE IN THE WORLD

There's a bit of a "missing link" in the first two sentences of today's Gospel from Mark. In the first, the apostles return from having been sent out on mission two by two ("one who is sent" is the meaning of "apostle"). Their instructions were to preach repentance, drive out demons, and heal the sick in Jesus' name. In the second sentence, Jesus tells them to come away with him and rest a while. It would be nice for us to imagine that, between those two sentences, a look of amazed gratitude and pleasure crossed the face of Jesus as he hears of the kingdom proclaimed in his name, and how they didn't have to shake the dust off their feet anywhere. They deserved a rest! It might not be bad for us, when we gather together with Jesus as the apostles do today, to do this kind of debriefing, allowing the Lord to hear what we've sought to do in his name, our successes, our failures, our need to get away with him for a while to be fortified for further work in God's name. For we, the baptized, are not only the flock of Jesus Christ; through water and the power of the Spirit we have also become the Body of Christ, the presence of the Shepherd for the life of the world.

SUNDAY SOUNDBITE

Adventure writer Jon Krakauer wrote Into Thin Air, a first-person account of the 1996 disaster on Mount Everest, when eight people lost their lives in one day. Fierce storms, exhaustion, and human limitations in Everest's unforgiving environment led to the tragedy. In his gripping account, Krakauer describes how the crucial relationship between guide and client might mean the difference between life and death.

Even when not life-threatening, a mountain climb challenges a person emotionally, spiritually, as well as physically.

Today's Gospel invites us into another challenging environment--a desert wilderness--with Jesus as our shepherd and guide. We're invited, along with his disciples to "come and rest."

Summer is a time when we seek out places of rest and leisure with our families, to "re-charge" and get new energy for our lives.

Liturgically, we'll do something similar, starting next week. We'll read from the Gospel of John for five weeks, from the section known as the "Bread of Life Discourse." It shows Jesus as both our shepherd-guide, and our source of nourishment. Our Scriptures will help us understand better how he does this in the Eucharist. Along with leisurely reflection, we'll also be challenged: Can we take the responsibility ourselves, to feed Christ's people? - Fr. Greg Friedman

Sunday Soundbites is a weekly, 90-second radio homily based on the Sunday readings, written and read by Franciscan Father Greg Friedman. Sunday Soundbites is also heard on Catholic radio stations around the country.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION When Catholicism encounters a culture, it tends to approach the culture with a measure of respect for its key customs, especially those touching family life. Around the world, these long-established customs are often received into the liturgy, sometimes with a new level of interpretation. From Old Mexico, the custom of the lasso ("cord") has migrated across borders, and is now firmly established in the marriage liturgy of Spanish-speaking Catholics in the United States. It's a large cord, sometimes resembling rosary beads, looped around the necks of the newlyweds in a figure-eight shape. It is a great honor for a person, normally a godparent or close relative, to place the lasso around the shoulders of the couple, groom first. The lasso, a symbol of profound unity, remains in place throughout the liturgy until removed, usually by the priest. The bride keeps the lasso as a memento of the day, a sign of her ties of love to her husband in heart and home. The tender ministry of the godparent in this ceremony clearly links this sacrament of vocation with baptism. It's not unusual to see the lasso made of fragrant orange blossoms, harking back to very ancient pre-Christian rituals seeking the blessings of fertility and happiness.
