September 20, 2015

In today's readings, Jesus struggles to make his disciples understand that he must suffer and die, and that following him will not bring them positions of status or honor. Many of our images of Christ depict him as victorious and risen. These images are real and true, but his suffering and death are also an essential part of the truth; and they are an essential part of our lives as his followers.

ABBREVIATED PARISH COUNCIL MINUTES

Holy Family parish council meeting was held 9/15/15. Rita Stevenson was assisted with completing a questionnaire for the Regional Pastoral Deanery. Discussion of our assignment from the stewardship committee - compose a slogan/tag line for Holy Family. A list of suggestions will be presented to the committee. Election of officers was held. Picture at the back of church will be updated with new council members.

YOU'RE INVITED... You are cordially invited to join us in the actual pews at church! The cry room is getting far too congested with adults and their older children sneaking in for a last minute seat. Please reserve that area for crying babies, toddlers, and nursing mothers. The ushers will be happy to help you find a seat outside the cry room.

If you have younger kids and are afraid they'll act up in church, go ahead and give the pews a try anyway. Please, never let your young children be an excuse to stay home from mass. We want everyone-parents and children alike-to be an active part of our fellowship and worship at church. Let's pack the pews!

a moment for grace...a prayer for refugees

God of our Wandering Ancestors, Long have we known
That your heart is with the refugee: That you were born into time
In a family of refugees fleeing violence in their homeland,
Who then gathered up their hungry child and fled into alien country.
Their cry, your cry, resounds through the ages:
"Will you let me in?" Give us hearts that break open
When our brothers and sisters turn to us with that same cry. Then surely all these things will follow:
Ears will no longer turn deaf to their voices.
Eyes will see a moment for grace instead of a threat.
Tongues will not be silenced but will instead advocate.
And hands will reach out— working for peace in their homeland, working for justice in the lands where they seek safe haven.
Lord, protect all refugees in their travels.
May they find a friend in me And so make me worthy Of the refuge I have found in you. Amen.

The Generosity of God by Friar Jim Van Vurst, O.F.M. (A Friar's E-spirations at AmericanCatholic.org 9/16/15)

Most of us are attuned to the issue of fairness. But what is interesting is how often people criticize God for not being fair. I'm reminded of Jesus' parable about the workers who were hired to work all day and those hired at the end of the day. The parable illustrates the generous vineyard owner giving all the workers a full day's wage. The exhausted workers who toiled in the heat cried foul when he saw they late-in-the-day workers hardly breaking a sweat. Jesus posed the question, "Why can't I be generous with my money? It is after all mine, isn't it?"

What about God's generosity toward us? I look at myself and I stand back in awe. I was born into a wonderful family, with a mom and dad who were good Catholics. My sister and I were taught from early on how to pray, what to believe, and how to live our lives. I received a vocation to the Franciscan life—including ordination to the priesthood. My sister was also called to religious life with the Sisters of Charity. We both had good educations—and then the opportunity to use our talents for the good of others.

I often wonder how I could ever look down on someone whose life has been filled with struggle, abuse, lack of love, or lack of education. How could I ever sit in judgment that they should be doing better? It can be an instant rejection.

All Are Saved We tend to build ourselves up by comparing ourselves with those who don't measure up to our standards. We sometimes feel better by looking at those we deem beneath us. And those who are seen as less often do not have the blessings and chances that we have. That's where rash judgment comes in. How many children today are raised in one-parent homes, and who experience deprivation, rejection, physical abuse, or more? When I grew up in the '40s and '50s, life was uncomplicated. Growing up in society today is a challenge - even with the best of opportunities.

In the parable of the workers, we have to remember that those who were hired at the end of the day had been standing around waiting for a chance to work. When questioned why they were idle, their answer was: "Because no one has hired us."

The Gospels tell us that Jesus embraced lepers and outcasts. In those days, sickness of any kind was seen as punishment from God, so people felt good about rejecting them. But Jesus' answer is just the opposite: they are God's favorites since they have so little. I think to myself that, given all the gifts I have been blessed with, I'm accountable to the Lord. Next to adoration of God, the next best prayer is one of gratitude. I have to remind myself of how blessed I have been. Can you imagine anyone being upset with Jesus for saving the thief Dismas on the cross? It is a moment to rejoice. And that is why, even though no one can know who is saved and who is not, the true Christian should pray that everyone be saved.
