We are reminded today that spreading the word about Christ did not go smoothly in the early church. Understanding and accepting Jesus was a slow and often unsuccessful process. It may seem different now, but if we consider our own questions and struggles with faith, we realize that our commitment is not formed overnight. It is often subject to life circumstances that challenge our faith. There is still work to be done in spreading the good news. If we want to contribute to the effort, we might begin with ourselves.

I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me. - John 14:6

FIRST HOLY COMMUNION

We welcome Alejandro Gonzalez at 5:30 pm Mass and Ally Falconer and Faith Watkins at the 10 am Mass to the table of holy communion. May they always hunger for Jesus in the Bread of Life and the Cup of Salvation.

THE WAY Today we sense the apostles' trepidation as they begin to realize that the Lord would soon be leaving them. In their fear, they ask, "Master, we do not know where you are going; how can we know the way?" (John 14:5). Jesus tells them that he is the way. The Easter season has been a time of growing in Easter faith so that we, too, may learn to know that Jesus is the way. We can take comfort in the Lord's promise that he is going to his Father's house to prepare a place for us, his chosen people who have been called out of darkness into God's wonderful light. As the paschal candle continues to burn during this holy season, let us remember that in baptism we were given the light of Christ. With Christ our light as the beacon lighting our way, let us march toward the glory of Pentecost.

ON ADORATION... "In our self-centered culture and classic American emphasis on work, we often feel we have to accomplish something during our times of prayer before the Blessed Sacrament. We rate our experience by how 'good' our prayer was, how heartfelt our devotion was, or how focused we could remain. Yet prayer and contemplation are fundamentally God's work, in which we are invited to participate. We need only to give Him the opening, and He will do the rest. By coming to adoration, we are handing Him the keys to our hearts, allowing the rays of His love and grace to bathe our souls in the light of His Presence, as the rays of the sun bathe our bodies in light. If we can take the time to pull away from the busyness and distractions of life and just sit at His feet, He will lead us."

- Poor Clares of Perpetual Adoration

LOVING GOD,

We thank you for the love of the mothers you have given us, whose love is so precious that it can never be measured, whose patience seems to have no end.

We pray for those whose mothers fear they will run out of love or time, or patience. We pray for the one who has lost a mother, for the mother who has lost a child, and for the mother whose child is sick or in pain. You are not forgotten.

Holy God bless all mothers with your special love on this Mother's Day. In your name we pray, Amen.

SUNDAY SOUNDBITE... I wonder if the early Christians, after the excitement of the first Pentecost had worn off, longed for their own "good old days." As they found themselves "in for the long haul," trying to set up structures and institutions for the growing community, did they wish they were back when it was just Jesus and a little band of disciples?

The passage from the Last Supper in John's Gospel today seems to anticipate that situation. Jesus reassures his troubled followers that he's going to prepare a place for them. When they want to know the "way" to this place, Jesus tells them he is "the way."

The disciples will go on to do Christ's work—a mission to a wider world. Elsewhere in that Last Supper discourse, Jesus promises that the Holy Spirit will be present to remind them of all he's said and done.

The spread of the gospel challenged the fledgling community as the Church grew, and encompassed other languages, cultures and regions. New structures and new ministries would be needed.

The same is true in our day. Facing a new millennium, we need to know the Holy Spirit—Christ's gift to the Church—is present to teach us what's needed today, and unite us to Christ: our way, our truth, and our life. - Fr. Greg Friedman, Sunday Soundbite for the Fifth Sunday of Easter
