November 22, 2015

My friends, on this final Sunday of the liturgical year, we hear poetic imagery written by people waiting for God's final coming into history and powerful reign. Jesus did not claim a glorious title for himself, but his actions demonstrated and unleashed the reign of God for all time. Though he was a man of self-giving, far different from what was expected, he was given the title of "King." Whatever we choose to call him, we honor him above all.

FEAST OF CHRIST THE KING

Jesus Christ is the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead and ruler of the kings of the earth.

- Revelation 1:5

MITTEN TREE

This year, the Mitten Tree is undergoing a big change. Ms. Sue Fitzpatrick, with Head Start, asked if our church would be willing to help the entire family of some Head Start students. Fr. Mike has agreed to these changes. The Head Start program has chosen specific families that do not utilize the Salvation Army, Douglas Community services, etc., but families that are still in need of help over the Christmas season. When you pick up a mitten off the tree, you will notice that it is similar to adopt-a-family. Some examples of items that may be on the mittens will be toys, clothes for the family, kitchen and other household items. I pray that you will be generous to these Head Start families and most importantly lift them up in prayer. The Mitten Tree party is open to all parishioners and is on Tuesday, December 15th at 6pm in St. Michael's Hall. Please plan on attending this party to welcome and support the Head Start families. If you would like to help with the party, please contact Becky Thomas at 221-7755 or jrcjqn@gmail.com.

STEWARDSHIP ALIVE...Stewardship: How Are You Using Your Gifts?

In the world today there is a prevailing feeling that "it's my life" and as long as I'm not hurting anyone, I can do whatever I want to do, usually without any thought of how this affects others. This attitude unfortunately leads to apathy, indifference and worst of all, living a self-centered life.

As Catholics, we have a longer view of life. We believe that our actions on earth will determine where we spend our eternal life. Life on earth is not the end game.

The Baltimore Catechism says to gain the happiness of heaven we must know, love and serve God in this world. In the Gospel of Matthew we read, "Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust consume and where thieves break in and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven...For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." So, how are you using your God-given gifts these days?

This Thanksgiving Day take time in gratitude for all that God has given you, your family and friends and talk to each other about how God is calling you to nurture and share your many blessings. - David Baranowski

"Loving God, I come to you in thanksgiving, knowing all that I am and all that I have is a gift from you. In faith and love help me to do your will.

I am listening Lord -- speak your words into the depth of my soul, that I may hear you clearly. I offer to you this day all the facets of my life whether it be at home, at work or at school -- to be patient, to be merciful, to be generous: to be holy.

Give me the wisdom and the insight to understand your will for me and the fervor to carry out my good intentions. I offer my gifts of time, talent and possessions to you as a true act of faith, to reflect my love for you and my neighbor. Help me to reach out to others as you my God have reached out to me. Addicts Victorious Support group Program - Holy Family Parish Center (218 S. Maple), upstairs

Every Sunday 7:00pm – 8:00pm - Facilitator: Deacon Troy Egbert

Addicts victorious is a Christ centered support group program.

At Addicts Victorious we have found a prescription for addiction. Through the power of Jesus Christ, any addiction can be completely broken. Hundreds of people have been set free from addictions such as: alcohol, drugs, eating disorders, gambling, sexual/pornography, smoking

In today's world, it can be hard to have a good attitude. But, through God's word, the Bible, it is possible to walk in victory and enjoy your life. Here are some of the common 'thinking' problems we can help you overcome: anger, bitterness, fear, unforgiveness, worry

The Steps to Victory:

I admit that I need help in overcoming my problems, fears and/or addictions.

I believe the power of Jesus Christ can free me, restore me and whole.

I am willing to let Jesus Christ change my life and trust him completely.

I acknowledge any sin and addiction and accept total forgiveness from Jesus Christ. I also cast all of my worry upon Jesus because I know He cares for me.

I ask forgiveness of those I have hurt, and I also forgive those who have hurt me.

I extend the love of Jesus Christ to others daily, thinking of them as I want them to think about me and treating them as I want them to treat me.

I pray and read my Bible each day in order to know what to do to live a victorious life.

I actively fellowship with other Christians and worship God in the church of my choice.

I share my faith and knowledge of Jesus Christ with others so they can also be set free, because He who the Son set free is free indeed. As a result of my new life, I will walk in the Spirit daily. The fruit of the Spirit is evident in my life and I share it with others.

MY SON NEEDS HIS KING ...taken from CONNECT! Midweek Reflection for 11/22/15 - LPi

I suspect the events of the past week might have many people longing for a world that does not exist. My youngest child no longer feels that he is safe from the reach of terrorists. He has been to professional sporting events and concerts with me before and I suspect that he felt then that I would be able to take charge of any circumstance that might threaten him. But as he said to me the day after the Paris attacks, "That could be us at a concert or a game." Innocence is gone. The beast is awake and men and women of good will must now be watchful, for the enemy could be anywhere. However, the beast is not new and even though my son now sees the world differently, the world has not fundamentally changed.

Since the fall in the Garden, evil has been among us. History is a tapestry filled with scenes of tremendous violence and hatred of human beings toward one another. Every century has brought with it those who have caused the young to dream nightmares and worry about the events of each new day. The events in Paris remind us of the fallen nature of humankind, even when the killing is done in the name of God. Evil speaks in lies about the nature of God and a fallen creation suspects that the lies may be true. This tapestry of world history would be a monotonous chain of events that could make a person doubt the very meaning of life, as many philosophers have done throughout the ages, if it were not for the single most significant event on that tapestry: the Incarnation and then death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

On that night in France, terror seemed to reign, but the reality is that the terror caused by humans is no match for the love of Jesus Christ. This Sunday our liturgical year closes as we honor Jesus Christ as King of the Universe. We are reminded that God became man and then chose to be broken by the world so that the world would have no power to break his adopted sons and daughters, the best of his creation. Then he rose from the dead and broke all the chains of death that could bind us. Today and every day he reigns as King of all creation, regardless of what evil and the humans that choose it believe to the contrary.

But what does this mean to my twelve-year-old? He is still too young to understand the implications of Jesus Christ as King. So, we who call ourselves disciples of Jesus must show him. We must love in the face of hate, bring peace to those who have witnessed violence, and speak of life in the midst of death. However, for too long we have been mild mannered or even silent. There are some today that blame all religion for heinous crimes because the actions were performed in the name of a God they believe does not exist. We perhaps have failed to convince them of the true God in Jesus Christ due to either misled words or actions or, more importantly, lack of action. This does not mean we are to blame for the evil of these types of terrorist attacks. But we need to proclaim clearly and powerfully the good news so that hope never takes a backseat to fear.

Pope Francis stands as a powerful witness to the kingdom of heaven in our midst, but he must be a leader of those who increasingly act more like him. The world needs more people like Pope Francis, Blessed Mother Teresa, Dorothy Day, and the like. We should not be saying, "Look how Christ-like they were," but instead, "I need to be more like them." We have a King and we have received a great commission. His kingdom is threatened once again by the forces of evil. We must rise up and fortify the kingdom using prayer, love, and the gifts of the Spirit as our weapons. My son needs for this to happen. His community, the body of Christ, will provide him with the consolation he seeks. And he will flourish in the midst of chaos for he will know he is a child of the King. - Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

PRAYER Almighty, everlasting God, Who in Thy beloved Son, King of the whole world, hast willed to restore all things anew; grant in Thy Mercy that all the families of nations, rent asunder by the wound of sin, may be subjected to His most gentle rule. Who with Thee lives and reigns world without end. Amen.

- Prayer to Jesus Christ the King from the Litany of Christ the King.
